THE MERCEDES-MAYBACH S-CLASS

A NEW DEFINITION OF LUXURY

Since the market launch in 2015, around 60,000 examples of the Mercedes-Maybach S-Class have been delivered worldwide. In 2019, with around 12,000 units, more Mercedes-Maybach S-Class cars were sold than ever before. Alongside China, which experienced a double digit growth rate, the main sales markets in recent years have been Russia, South Korea, the U.S. and Germany. The new Mercedes-Maybach S-Class is poised to continue this success story. It combines the high-tech solutions of the recently presented Mercedes-Benz flagship model with the exclusivity and tradition of Maybach. The 7-inch longer wheelbase compared to the Mercedes-Benz S-Class entirely benefits the rear. Thanks to standard Executive Seats, the rear section becomes a comfortable working or resting area. They are complemented by exclusive details such as large areas of trim on the rear of the front seats and between the two rear passengers. The Mercedes-Maybach S-Class will go on sale in the U.S. in mid-2021.

"With the new Mercedes-Maybach S-Class, we are emphasizing the progressive, modern approach of its exclusive product portfolio shortly before the 100th anniversary of Mercedes-Maybach automobiles," says Dirk Fetzer, head of Mercedes-Maybach product management. "As they did then, today's customers have high expectations of their exclusivity and individuality, elegant design and first-class standard of finish, all based on the very latest technology. Especially with respect to comfort, safety and design, the new Mercedes-Maybach S-Class has unique selling features in the hotly contested luxury segment."

The Mercedes-Maybach S-Class (length/width/height: 215.3/75.6/59.4 inches) is a classic three-box sedan. Distinguishing features at the front include the distinctive hood with a chrome fin and the Mercedes-Maybach radiator grille. This is highly recognizable by its vertical, three-dimensional trim strips. The word mark MAYBACH is elegantly integrated into the chrome surround of the grille. The rear doors are wider than those of the brother models, and the C-pillars feature a fixed quarterlight. Exclusivity is emphasized by the Maybach brand logo on the C-pillar. On request, the Mercedes-Maybach S-Class can be equipped with electrically operated comfort rear doors and the exclusive appearance can be enhanced by a two-tone paint finish with dividing line. This is applied by hand according to the highest quality criteria.

The interior: generous space and great comfort in the rear

The interior of the Mercedes-Maybach S-Class is based on the completely new interior design of the Mercedes-Benz S-Class. The sculptured look of the dashboard, center console and armrests appears to float above an expansive interior landscape.

Five display screens are equipped as standard, including a 12.8-inch OLED central display as a high-tech control center and a 12.3-inch 3D driver display with three-dimensional representation of other road users and pronounced depth and shade effects.

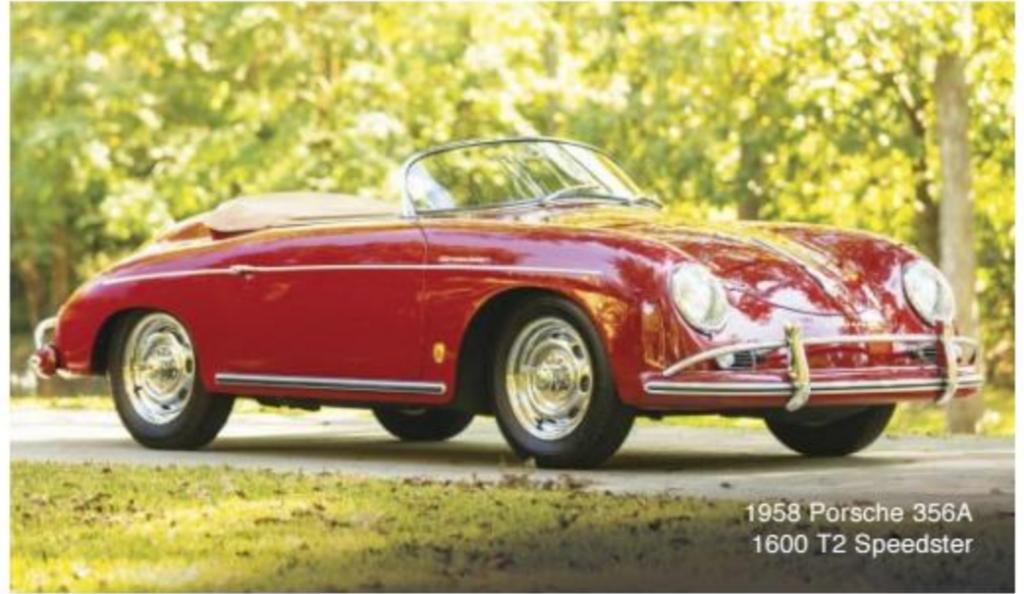

The distinctive look of the driver display in 'Exclusive' mode underlines the special status of the Mercedes-Maybach: the surrounds of the dial instruments are in the brand color rose gold.

BONHAMS

10th Scottsdale Auction is January 21

written by David M. Brown

Bonhams returns to the Westin Kierland Resort & Spa, 6902 East Greenway Parkway in Scottsdale, for its 10th annual collectors' car auction, Thursday, January 21.

Among the many motorcars from Italy, Germany, England and the United States to be offered by auctioneer Rupert Banner are a beautifully restored and numbers-matching 1958 Porsche 356A Speedster; a rare low-mileage 1992 Lancia Delta HF Integrale Evo 1 "Martini 6"; and a one-of-99 2018 Aston Martin Vanquish Zagato Volante.

"We are delighted to be returning to the Westin Kierland and celebrating a decade of auctions there," says Eric Minoff, senior specialist for Bonhams.

As part of the company's COVID-19 safety precautions, the event will be open for preview only by appointment, and the live auction will be outside the traditional Bonhams tent and online.

"All appropriate safety guidelines will be followed, including masks on all employees and guests at all times and social distancing," he says. Previews will be available by appointment, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 19 and 20, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Thursday, January 21, 9 a.m. to 12 p.m.

With only 1,400 miles from new, the single-owner Vanquish Zagato Volante (VIN. SCFPMCRZ3JGK34150, Engine #AM27/50644) is powered by a DOHC V-12 with multipoint sequential fuel injection, producing 580 bhp at 7,000 rpm delivered through an 8-speed automatic. Also included on the custom Aston Martin — its MSRP approached $900,000 — are 4-wheel independent suspension and 4-wheel vented carbon ceramic disc brakes.

With Reutter coachwork and a matching-numbers engine, gearbox and original body panels, the Porsche (Chassis #84140, Engine #67739) carries the 60-horse 1.5-liter SOHC 4-cylinder with two twin-choke carburetors. Featuring an award-winning restoration by marque experts, the Speedster has a 4-speed manual transaxle, 4-wheel independent suspension, 4-wheel drum brakes and period-correct and date-coded Rudge wheels.

Number 145 of just 310 'Martini 6' special-edition examples manufactured, the Giorgetto Giugiaro-designed Lancia (VIN. ZLA831AB000580638) has the turbocharged 16-valve 4-cylinder engine with electronic fuel injection, producing 210 bhp at 5,750 rpm. Included are a 5-speed manual transmission, 4-wheel independent suspension and 4-wheel disc brakes. The classic Italian has just 16,800 miles from new.

Also docketed are a 1954 Kurtis 500KK SR-100 (Chassis # MKK55), with coachwork by Jim Byers; a 1952 Jaguar XK120 Roadster (Chassis #672233, Engine #W 5003-8); and a 1955 Arnolt-Bristol Bolide (Chassis #X404-3005, Engine #100/A 206-BS1/MKII/206).

"In Scottsdale we have offered some of motoring history's most important and charismatic motorcars, some selling for world-record prices. Our immensely experienced international sales team would be honored to work with you," Minoff says.

Entry to the auction is by appointment. Catalogs cost $50 ($60 including shipping). There is no cost to register to bid, which can be accomplished online at www.bonhams.com/scottsdale.

RM SOTHEBY'S Holds Arizona Auction January 22 at OTTO Car Club

written by David M. Brown

Two contemporary supercars, a 2003 Ferrari Enzo and a 2019 Ford GT 'Lightweight,' a pre-war 1932 Cadillac V-16 Convertible Coupe and six rally classics from The Homologation Collection are among approximately 80 blue-chip collectibles to be offered during the 22nd annual RM Sotheby's Arizona Auction January 22 at the OTTO Car Club in Scottsdale.

Program times will be announced on the company website for the one-day event at the 49,000-square-foot facility, 15550 North 78th Street in the Scottsdale Airpark. The strictly monitored auction is limited to registered bidders and will follow safety procedures in accordance with city and state COVID-19 guidelines.

"We encourage our clients to register for bidding remotely, including online, via telephone or by placing absentee bids, and, as always with our live events, the auction will be livestreamed on our website," says Gord Duff, global head of Auctions for RM Sotheby's. The Blenheim, Ontario-based company also holds car sales in Paris, France; Amelia Island, Florida; Palm Beach, Florida; Auburn, Indiana; Hershey, Pennsylvania; London, UK; and Monterey, California.

The Enzo's original owner logged several thousand miles during his stewardship and sold the classic in 2006. Now showing just under 12,000 miles from the first two caretakers, it is presented in original Giallo Modena over tan leather interior. The car was featured as the July 2003 cover for Car and Driver.

Another Prancing Stallion is a rare "low roof" 1956 Ferrari 250 GT Alloy Coupe, one of just 14 alloy-bodied coupes produced by Felice Mario Boano between 1956 and 1958. Certified by Ferrari Classiche, chassis no. 0613 GT was raced by noted privateer Bob Grossman, including the Speed Week's famous "All-Ferrari" race, where he finished sixth overall. At the 2004 FCA International Concours d'Elegance in Monterey, the V-12 Ferrari won the Gold Award.

Two pre-war offerings are a CCA Full Classic 1932 Cadillac V-16 Convertible Coupe by Fisher, retaining its original chassis, engine and coachwork and restored by the well-known Fran Roxas. This is only one of 14 built and four known survivors. And, from 1938 is a rare Gunmetal-over-red SS 100 Jaguar 3½-Litre Roadster, one of 118 3½-liter examples produced; it's accompanied by a JDHT certificate.

Finally, six cars from the Homologation Collection comprising Group A and B examples for sanctioned sportscar racing and rallying, including a 1990 BMW M3 Sport Evolution, all offered without reserve.

Frank Aazami's Featured Listing

THIS IS AUCTION SEASON FOR COLLECTIBLE CARS AND LUXURY HOMES IN THE VALLEY

written by David M. Brown

Frank Aazami
founder of the Private Client Group

Buyers and sellers throughout the world participate every year in the January home and car auctions in Arizona.

Has the market not performed well enough for you? Do you want to sell or buy a Valley luxury home quickly and at an outstanding price? And, would you like to accomplish this at an accelerated time? All without the waiting associated with traditional MLS transactions and the health and safety issues coupled by COVID-19?

Throughout March 2021, as the Phoenix/Scottsdale area hosts a number of its annual car auctions, you can buy or sell a luxury home with Scottsdale's Russ Lyon | Sotheby's International Realty in conjunction with Concierge Auctions, New York City and Austin. This year's live car auctions in January are RM Sotheby's, at the OTTO Car Club, and Bonhams, which returns to the Westin Kierland. Barrett-Jackson is scheduled for March at WestWorld.

"Auctions of properties are akin to the world's finest art, antiques, and cars, so there is natural synergy," says Laura Brady, CEO of Concierge Auctions, the world's largest luxury real estate marketplace, with an 80-percent-plus share of luxury auction sales — more than its top five competitors combined.

This is prime time. "Not only do we see more Arizona home sales in the first quarter of each year coinciding with these other events, with buyers ready to bid and who understand the luxury-auction process," she adds, "but January is also the market's prime selling season for high-end real estate nationwide."

Buy or Sell a Win/Win

Traditionally, home-sellers and -buyers have a few options. For one, they can sell individually without third-party assistance; this may lower their costs but increase the effort, often also sacrificing professional expertise and efficiency. In doing so, they can cost themselves money, time and stress.

Or they can engage an agent's or company's services to find homes within specific parameters, including those in the millions of dollars. For almost two decades, the knowledgeable, experienced agents at Frank Aazami's Private Client Group at Russ Lyon Sotheby's International Realty (RLSIR) in Scottsdale have provided the highest quality of services. The parent RLSIR has been serving the Valley since 1947, when Russ Lyons opened the company in Scottsdale.

A third option: Connect with a firm such as Concierge Auctions, which, partnering with Aazami and Russ Lyon Sotheby's, provides its extremely effective auction format, offering homes to satisfy the many needs of buyers and sellers.

Laura Brady
CEO of Concierge Auctions
in Times Square, Manhattan

“Through auction, sellers gain unmatched exponential reach, speed and certainty,” Brady says. “Concierge Auctions maintains the most comprehensive database of high-net-worth property connoisseurs on the planet. We match sellers of one-of-a-kind properties with the world’s most capable buyers via our state-of-the-art digital marketing, property preview and bidding platform.”

She adds that the company has logged activity in 29 countries with more than $100 billion in bids processed in its 16-year history. But not every property is selected. “On average, we accept one of every 20 inquiries that come our way,” says Brady, formerly in corporate retail at Neiman Marcus. She teamed with company Chairman Chad Roffers, a Silicon Valley executive, to begin the company in 2004.

Seller, buyer and agent all win, explains Aazami, RLSIR Brand Ambassador. For one, “The seller has the certainty that the home will sell on auction day, saving time and avoiding walk-throughs and open house showings,” he says. “Just contact us to discuss adding your listing to this year’s docket or if you are interested in a specific property” (see the tag at the end of the article).

In addition, multiple buyers are pre-qualified to participate: “They are willing and able to bid,” he explains. What’s more, due diligences and inspections on the docketed properties are also completed beforehand.

“All ‘what-ifs’ are removed, including long-standing carrying costs,” Aazami says. “If time is particularly important, and sellers want to ‘cash out’ while the market is most vibrant, this process becomes valuable and productive.”

So, too, buyers can take advantage of pre-auction buyer incentives, he says. “They can stop bidding at any time and they may find themselves bidding against ‘low-esteem’ competing participants.” As a result, they may end with a great buy through an easy phone or web-based bid process.

Those in need benefit, too. “Our Key For Key® giving model also guarantees for every home we sell, we build a home for a family in need,” Brady says. “We believe in the empowerment and financial stability that comes with home ownership and its impact for generations.”

“Now is the best time to consult and consider the auction option,” Aazami says. “Sellers are enjoying the current high-value market in the Valley, and buyers have an opportunity to acquire a great property at less than what they anticipated.”

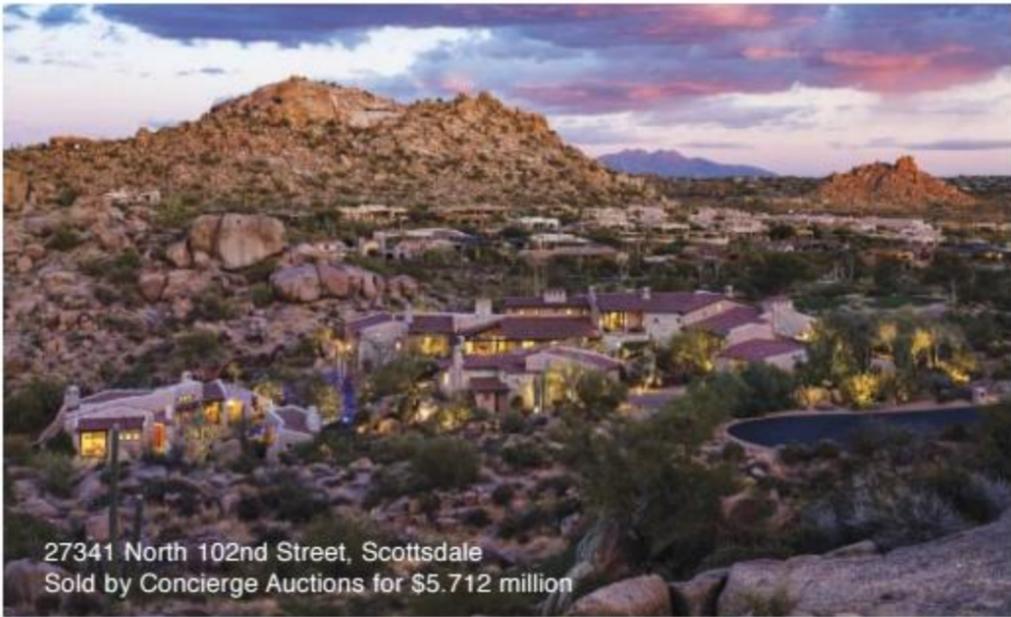

Russ Lyon Sotheby’s + Concierge Auctions = Successful Buys and Sales

Just recently, a multi-million-dollar RLSIR-brokered home sold at a higher price through auction, and within days — “not months and years” Aazami says — the same home sold for less in a better open market.

Concierge Auctions has posted a number of other Valley successes in past years:

“I am very pleased with the Concierge Auctions team’s work. Their efforts did a great job fleshing out not only national prospects but also those in the local market. In the end, the team was able to achieve a great result in a difficult market, and the home sold for the highest price ever in Paradise Valley,” said Robert Sussman, the home seller.

• 27341 North 102nd Street, the Scottsdale home of former Magellan Fund Manager Peter Lynch, sold for $5.712 million. “This was the highest sale price in the exclusive 180-home community of Estancia since 2014,” she says. • The most recent Arizona collaborative sale was near Sedona. “Previously a famed small hotel, the property was restored and reconfigured over 12 years into a family estate,” Brady says. (www.conciergeauctions.com/auctions/300-upper-bell-road-jerome-arizona)

“Working with Concierge Auctions for nearly a decade speaks to the trust my clients and I have placed in the firm,” Aazami says. “The team shines the additional exposure a property needs in order to take a sale through global participation. They have mastered the ability to convert lookers into buyers.”

A PERSONAL TOUCH Venn Helps Local Surgeons Tuck into the Next Phase of Growth for ASC's

written by Stephanie Fogelson

photography by Mason Pacheco

Ambulatory care is one of the fastest-growing and highest-margin portions of the greater healthcare industry in the United States. While many healthcare systems have benefited from investing ahead of this trend, significant opportunities remain.

With the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic continuing to make an impact in how we live, work, socialize, eat, workout, and get healthcare, hospital capacity across many states has been considerably strained, with inpatient beds at or near full occupancy. This pressure on acute settings has increased the role that ASC's can play in the healthcare landscape by providing an alternative site for necessary procedures.

However, while COVID-19 has pushed interest in ambulatory care, this growing interest began long before the pandemic started.

Often more conveniently located than hospitals, ASC's allow patients to be discharged within 23 hours of care, reducing their risk of being infected by the virus and allowing recovery to take place in their own home. The ASC is usually more intimate than a hospital, which might be the main reason why some people don't seek help at a hospital in the first place. This gives patients a better sense of personalized care and contact with the people who care for them.

Elective surgeries and ASC's took a hit earlier in 2020 due to the initial spread of the pandemic. Restaurants closed down, bars turned into to-go liquor marts, professional sports were put on hold, and entire entertainment districts became ghost towns. So, naturally, elective surgeries were looked at as non-essential. But while this originally looked like trouble for the industry and the players within it, healthcare professionals and private practice physicians took it as an opportunity to lean into change and growth. Like Dr. Marc Malek, M.D., a plastic surgeon who operates out of Scottsdale.

Dr. Malek has been operating for 20 years at his Scottsdale Outpatient facility featuring one operating room. Now, Malek is expanding, even as COVID slowly subsides, pumping his services up to feature four additional operating rooms. Located close to North Scottsdale's Honor Health location, Dr. Malek wanted to select a surgery center in close proximity to a hospital should something go wrong in surgery and transportation is needed.

“COVID has actually presented the perfect scenario for my surgery center,” says Dr. Malek. “Patient safety is and will always be our top priority and removing these elective and semi-elective surgeries from the hospital setting presents a further safety measure for our patients.”

The goal is to reframe his ASC as a concierge-type service offering his patients with the goals of being patient-based, safe and secure, and comfortable, especially during a time when people are worried about contracting COVID-19. To achieve these goals, Dr. Malek worked with Venn Construction, the preferred ASC builder throughout the Greater Phoenix area.

Venn has stayed ahead of the curve during the pandemic, even breaking new ground on multiple projects and experiencing growth of its own. Venn recently finished a 68,000-sf ASC space in Avondale, an area of the market not previously privy to readily available ambulatory services. Whether it’s onsite surgery procedures or virtual one-on-ones between patient and surgeon, Venn has helped provide the physical space to serve the community.

Within the broader healthcare landscape, while hospital care is still the largest portion of the market overall, a disproportionate share of growth in the coming years will be ASC’s. This includes both free-standing locations as well as hospital outpatient departments. What’s more, the healthcare sector is projected to generate around 3.4 million new jobs through 2028 with more than half of these new jobs in the ASC space, according to the US Bureau of Labor Statistics.

While the effects of COVID-19 on the healthcare industry is still unknown, ambulatory care sites are likely to remain a significant part of the healthcare employment landscape. All that being said, it’s an optimal time for surgeons like Dr. Malek to work with leaders like Venn to plan and grow.

Back to Dr. Malek’s updated ambulatory center, the updated space will house overnight privileges for the full patient experience, accommodating elective and semi-elective surgeries. These surgeries will include laser and noninvasive procedures alike while also offering patients diverse specialties used in specific times. Rather than other surgeons booking time on the books for surgery, they can book out blocks of days, so the center is fully theirs, according to Dr. Malek. This way their patients can have the full experience of the “patient-based” center. This creates a mini outpatient surgery center without all the traffic.

At the end of the day, patients want to feel special and this will accomplish that for Dr. Malek’s patients and other specialties who use the center.

“After a 20-year search, I have found a building near a hospital that offers the separation and patient experience that they. It will have a class C license with overnight privileges,” Dr. Malek adds.

LAMBORGHINI SC20

THE UNIQUE OPEN-TOP TRACK CAR

BY SQUADRA CORSE

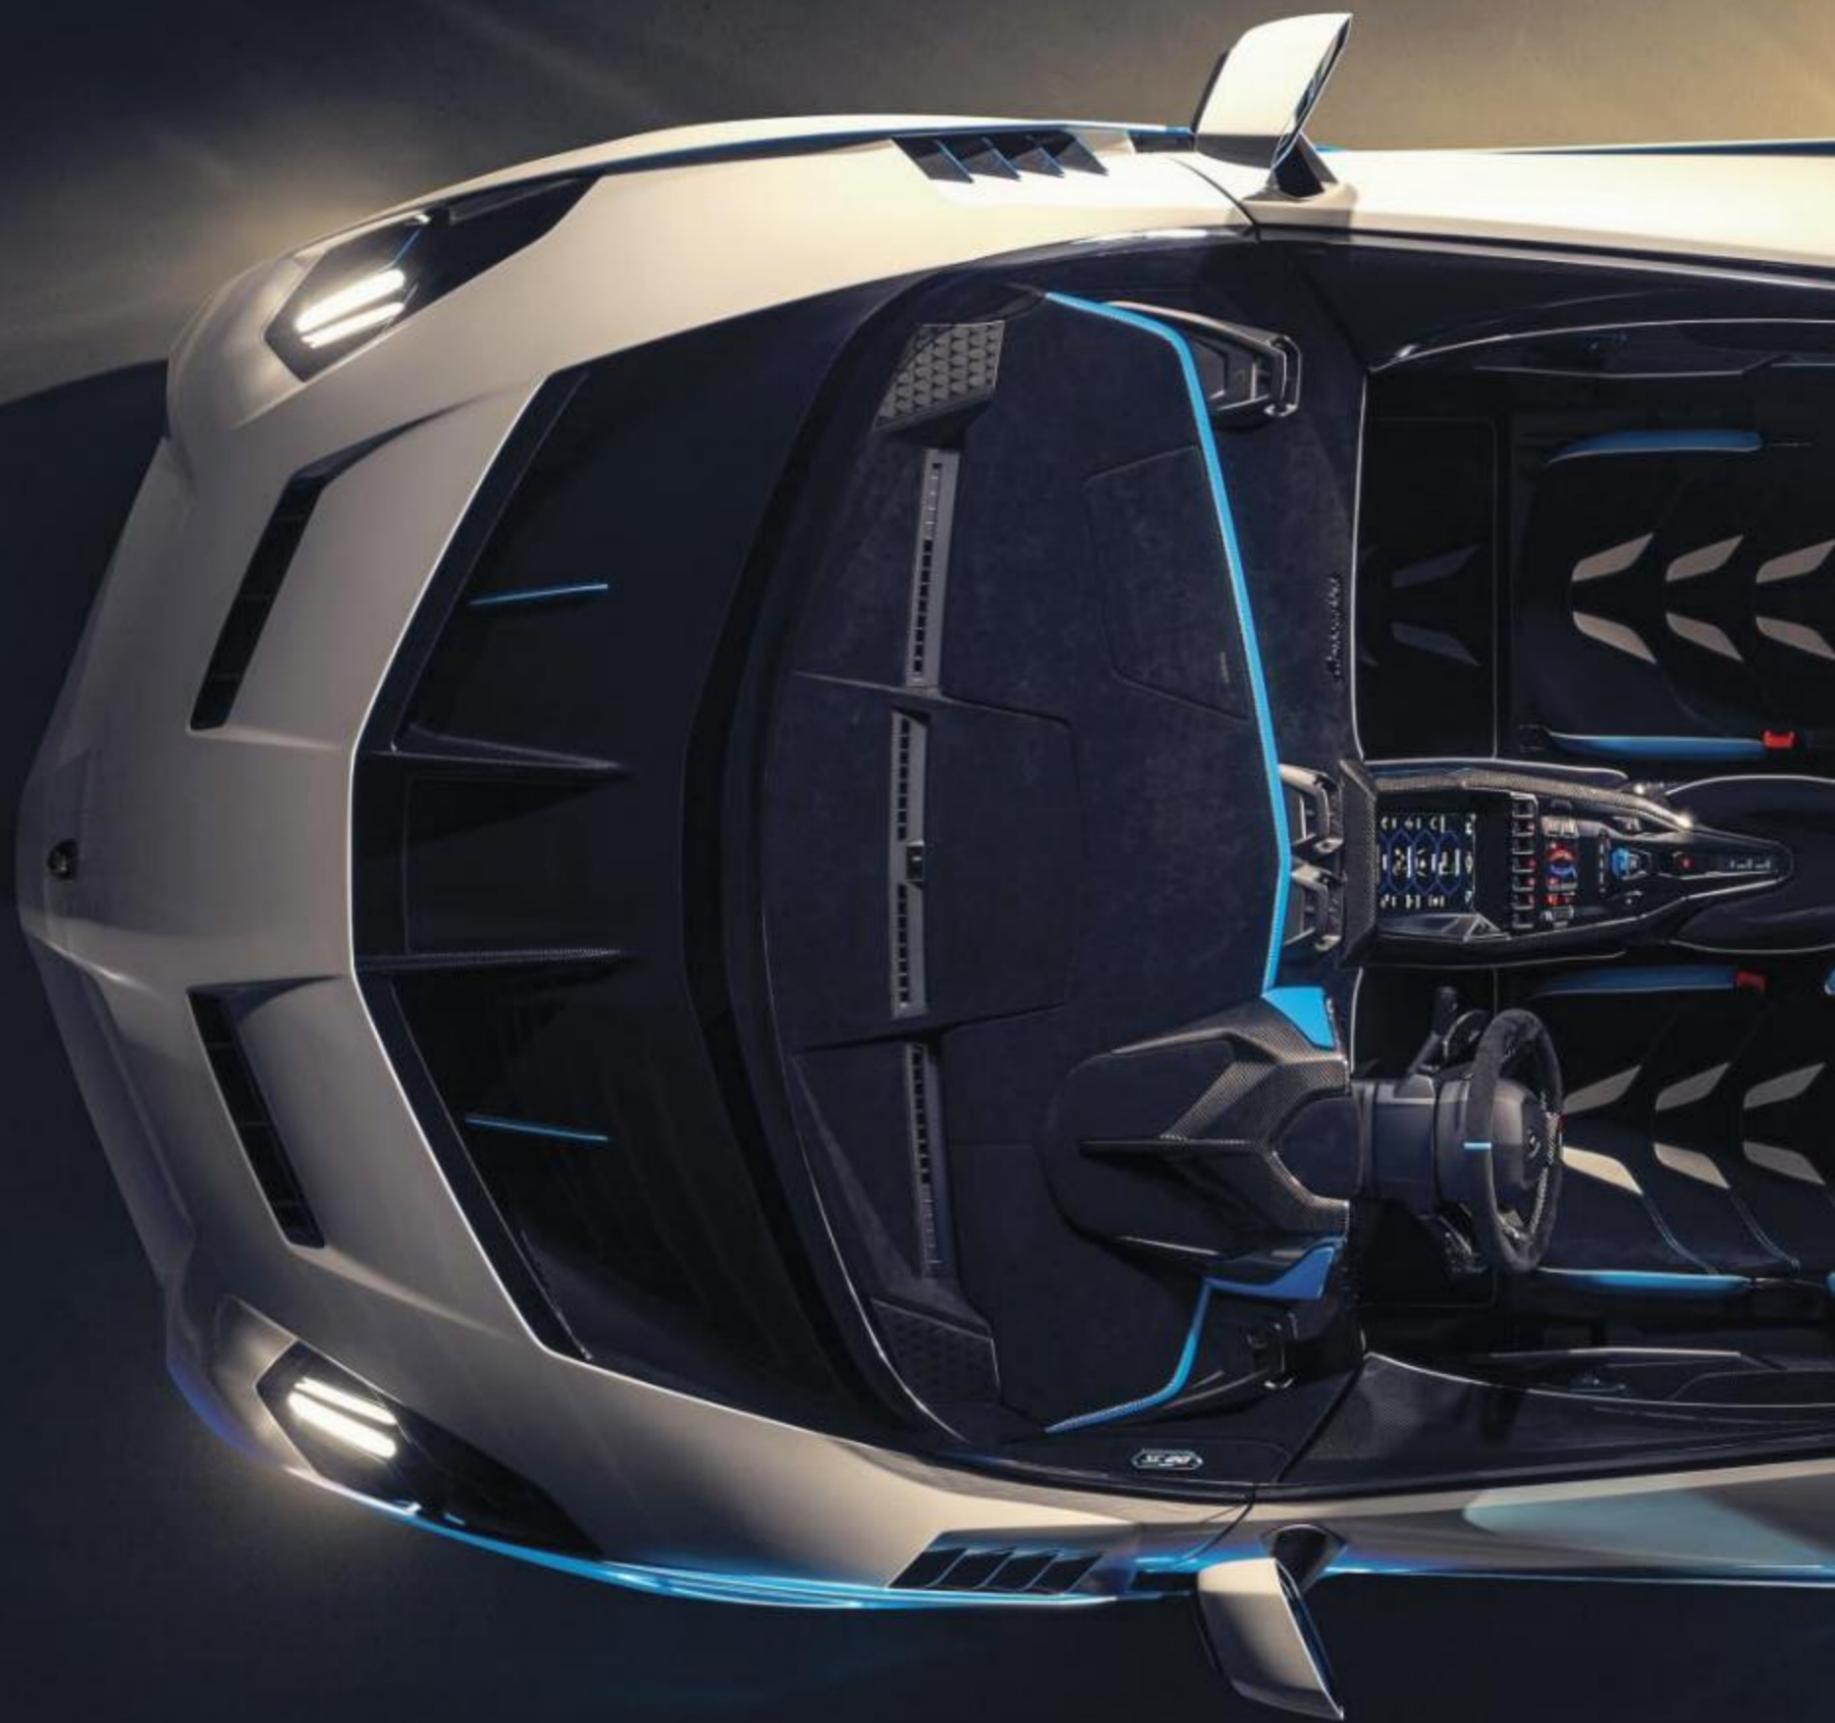

Lamborghini Squadra Corse presents the SC20, a unique specimen of an open-top track car type-approved for road use. The SC20 is the second one-off engineered by the motorsport department and designed by Centro Stile in Sant'Agata Bolognese: the car was created following the customer's wishes, who was involved in the project from the very first drawings by Lamborghini's designers.

The common goal was to build a unique vehicle, extreme in its design and performance, and able to combine aerodynamic solutions taken from racing Lamborghinis incorporating unprecedented lines and exclusive details. "Two years after the SC18 Alston, the SC20 was a new, intriguing challenge. The chief sources of inspiration were the Diablo VT Roadster, Aventador J, Veneno Roadster and Concept S, and the result is a dramatic combination of creativity and racing attitude," commented Mitja Borkert, Head of Design Lamborghini Centro Stile.

The carbon fiber body was polished and slicked down by hand by the Lamborghini aerodynamic engineers to deliver optimal airflow for both performance and the cockpit's occupants, ensuring comfortable open-air driving even at high speeds. The pronounced front splitter is framed by two fins and the air intakes on the front hood are inspired by those of the Huracán GT3 EVO, while the sculpted body sides reflect the solutions adopted on the Essenza SCV12. The muscular rear is topped by a large carbon fiber wing that can be set in three different positions: Low, Medium and High Load.

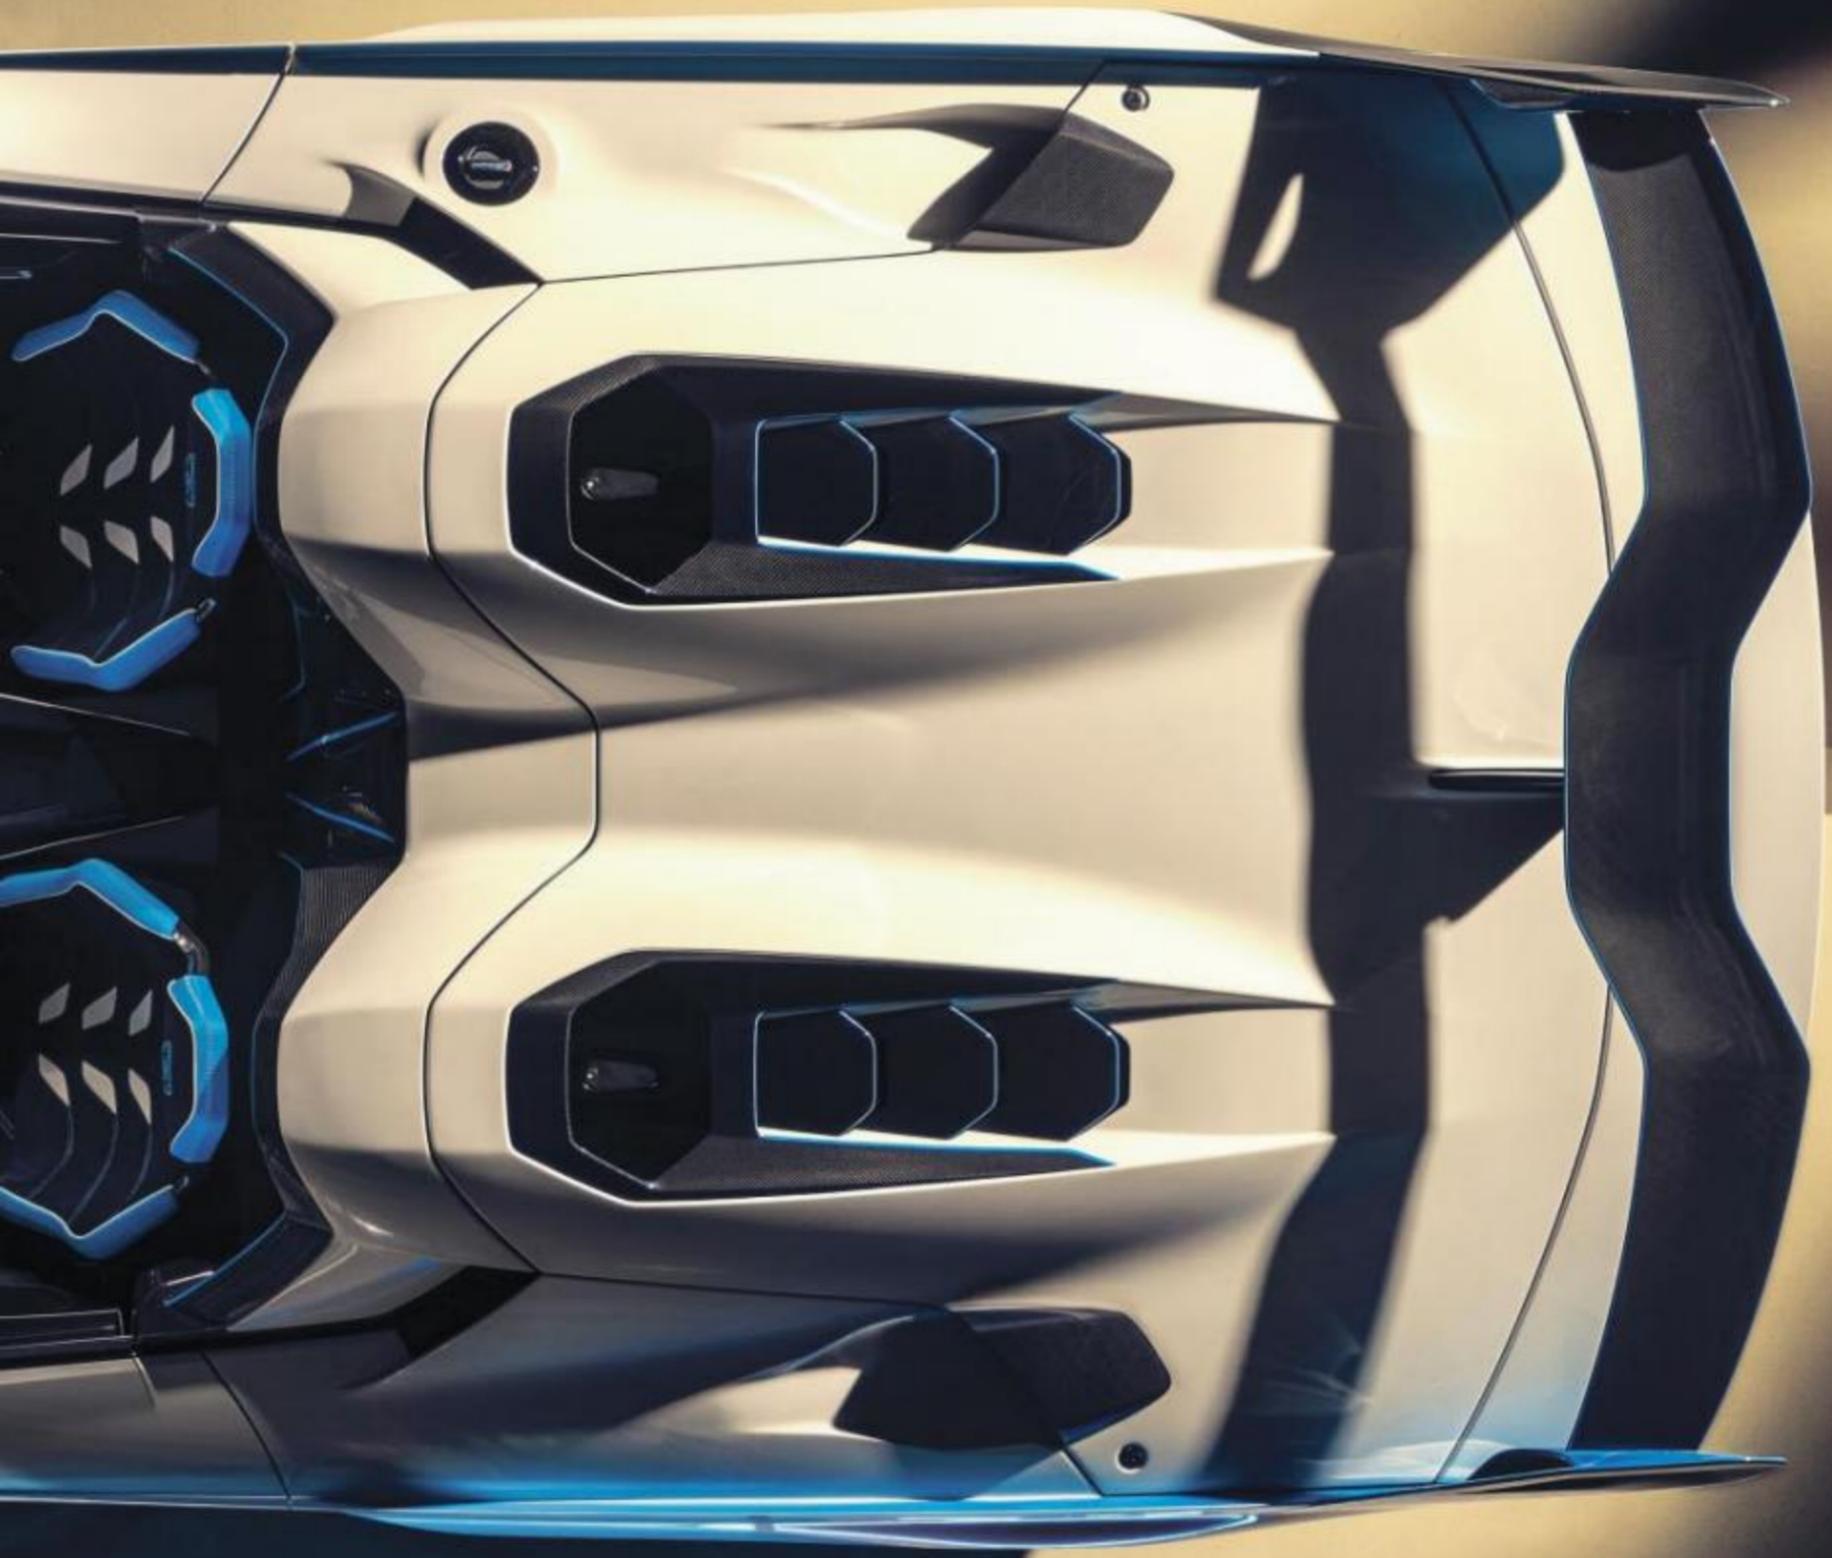

The SC20 features exclusive details starting from the body colors on a Bianco Fu (white) base, created for the customer, on which the Blu Cepheus (blue) livery stands out. The same shade is found in the interior, alternating with Nero Cosmus (black) and Bianco Leda (white). The most significant element of the passenger compartment is the visible carbon fiber used for the dashboard cover, rear wall, door panels, center console and steering wheel trim, in addition to the monocoque. Carbon fiber is also used for the shells of the seats upholstered in Alcantara and leather. The door handles on the other hand, are machined from solid aluminum. Lastly, the air vents are created using 3D printing technology at the Sant'Agata Bolognese factory.

THE PAGANI HUAYRA TRICOLORE

A tribute to the 60 years of the Frecce Tricolori, the world's largest aerobatics patrol

On the occasion of the 60th anniversary of the Frecce Tricolori, Pagani Automobili is pleased to present the Pagani Huayra Tricolore. Only three examples will be built as a tribute to the Italian Air Force Aerobatic Team. The 313th Aerobatic Training Group – the official name of the Italian Air Force Department founded on 1 March 1961 at the Rivolto military base – better known as the National Aerobatic Patrol (Pattuglia Acrobatica Nazionale, P.A.N.) or the Frecce Tricolori, is heir to an all-Italian tradition of collective aerobatics with roots that go all the way back to the 1920s. With their ten Aermacchi MB-339A P.A.N. jets, nine flying in formation and one solo, the Frecce Tricolori are one of the most famous aerobatic patrols in the world. They have dazzled an international audience of spectators for over half a century with their unparalleled aerobatics, demonstrating the dexterity and skill of which only the best pilots are capable. In fact, the flight of these ten aircraft represents a combination of perfection, discipline and the highest professionalism, the quintessence of group unity but also a sense of beauty. Theirs is a single mission: to display the tricolour of the Italian flag across the skies. In 2010, Pagani paid tribute to 50 years of such excellence by presenting the Zonda Tricolore, a Hypercar of which only three examples were made. Today it is one of the most exclusive and sought-after Zonda models in circulation. In 2020, the Frecce Tricolori reach their 60th anniversary and Pagani is about to celebrate this new milestone by adding another piece to a mosaic created from passion, tradition and the spirit of collaboration.

"In a year, 2020, which has put our country to the test like never before, we are proud to be able to celebrate a symbol of unity and national pride such as the Freccie Tricolori, a milestone that has emerged from an era of values and passion, and a long period of time in which men and machines were able and had to surpass themselves, day after day. For all of us, the Freccie represent an example of determination, a demonstration of what the strong desire to move forward and overcome obstacles can achieve. We hope that Huayra Tricolore will be a worthy tribute" Horacio Pagani, Founder and Chief Designer of Pagani Automobili.

Created in an ultra-limited edition, the Huayra Tricolore evokes the unmistakable lines of the air patrol's Aermacchi jets and combines, in every detail, aeronautical science and the elegance of form, once again pushing the concept of an ultra high performance car another step forward.

The inspiration: the Aermacchi MB-339A P.A.N.

Knowing how to fly in formation requires great skill on the part of pilots, but above all extreme discipline and extensive training. Even more than this, it implies the ability for excellent teamwork. Throughout history, right from the initial training practices, aerobatics has also served to demonstrate the skills of pilots and aircraft, the technological knowledge and the skills of men who designed new flight maneuvers.

Great Garages

CRANK UP THE CAR SPEAKERS AND CELEBRATE THE 25TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE ROCK AND ROLL HALL OF FAME

written by David M. Brown

Rollin’ and Rockin’: Classic vehicles and rock. Add a slice of apple pie, and you have a powerful taste of America.

Despite COVID-19, the Rock & Roll Hall of Fame in Cleveland has been celebrating its 25th anniversary this year. As part of that event, the hall recently inducted Depeche Mode, The Doobie Brothers, Whitney Houston, Nine Inch Nails, The Notorious B.I.G., T. Rex, and Ahmet Ertegun Award honorees Jon Landau and Irving Azoff, adding to the 338 groups enshrined.

Designed by the world-renowned architect I.M. Pei, the glass-enclosed double pyramid and adjacent 162-foot tower resemble a vintage record player from above. The 150,000-square-foot Hall of Fame preserves the history of the most influential artists and personalities of rock and roll. The museum archives and displays 35,000-plus artifacts relating to the American-born-and bred musical form, including some of the cars and motorcycles its inductees have enjoyed.

More than 13 million fans have visited since 1995; in 2019, nearly 600,000 fans and 2,300 artists toured the Rock & Roll Hall of Fame. The museum is temporarily closed over the holidays because of COVID-19 but expects to reopen after the New Year. Meanwhile, the museum expects construction to begin in 2022 on a 50,000-square-foot expansion, designed by the Practice for Architecture and Urbanism.

Known as the birthplace of rock and roll, Cleveland upcharted New York, San Francisco, Memphis and Chicago for hosting rights. That was deserved, as here disc jockey Alan Freed popularized the term “rock and roll” and where the first rock and roll concert, the Moondog Coronation Ball, took place in 1952.

The museum features signatures from every inductee; jukeboxes with career-defining playlists for each; The Garage, an interactive exhibit floor where visitors can take lessons on guitar, bass guitar, keyboard and drums; rockabilia such as the Gucci suit worn by Harry Styles when he inducted Phoenix-area resident Stevie Nicks in 2019; and many other educational opportunities.

“Cars and rock and roll are wonderfully intertwined in America’s cultural DNA,” says Nwaka Onwusa, chief curator for the Rock & Roll Hall of Fame. “In every musical experience, and every drive, stories are created and shared.”

Cars Go Platinum

Some inductees love cars or motorcycles in general or a specific vehicle. Onwusa shares some of those vehicles that are in the permanent or loaned collection of the museum, have appeared there as exhibits in the past or are enjoyed by the rockers in their private lives.

•1933 Ford Eliminator Coupe — This is one of the most famous cars in rock and roll history. Bill Gibbons, ZZ Top's guitarist and car enthusiast, commissioned its construction with Buffalo Motor Cars and Southern California's now famous So-Cal Speed Shop in 1976; the shops combined an all-steel Ford three-window coupe with a Corvette engine. The hot rod debuted on the cover of ZZ Top's 1983 album, Eliminator, and it became a symbol for the world tour that followed.

The Eliminator also appeared in ZZ Top's first video, Gimme All Your Lovin'. The next two videos, Sharp Dressed Man and Legs, combined the music of ZZ Top with the imagery of cheap sunglasses, beautiful women, Fury guitars and the red Eliminator coupe. Eliminator sales reached multi-platinum status in 1984, and the band received its first Grammy nomination.

The Eliminator was also featured during the band's performance at MTV's first Video Music Awards show in New York's Radio City Music Hall and continues to appear around the globe through television, movies, custom car exhibits and charitable events. (Collection of Billy F. Gibbon, on loan)

•1965 Porsche — Janis Joplin was often seen cruising San Francisco in her custom-painted psychedelic with her collie, George. (Gift of Rolling Stone)

•1979 Harley-Davidson Sportster XLS 1000 — This motorcycle, ridden by former Lynyrd Skynyrd drummer, Thomas Delmer 'Artimus' Pyle, was built by Daryl Dean at Gowanda Harley-Davidson in New York and customized with airbrushing by Cody Hughes. The artwork commemorated Pyle's 2006 induction into the Rock Hall as well as honor Pyle's late bandmate, Skynyrd frontman Ronnie Van Zant (1948–1977).

Pyle received the bike as a gift from his friend William Parry. "This bike is a tribute to my dear friend, Ronnie Van Zant, who I sadly miss," Pyle has said.

•1985 Harley-Davidson Wide Glide — Rocker Billy Idol bought this motorcycle in 1987 when he moved to Los Angeles. "I have ridden her all over LA to the many sessions, shows and shoots over the years and on many bike runs all over the USA. . . . "This bike is a part of my heritage," recalled Idol, who began his career as a punk rocker and later led Generation X.

In February 1990, Idol was seriously injured while riding this motorcycle; he ran a stop sign and collided with a car, breaking his wrist and leg. "[The bike] came out of it better than me, as she was only hit in the transmission," Idol said. Because of his injuries, Idol was only able to be filmed from the waist up for the Cradle of Love music video. The song reached Number Two on the Billboard Hot 100. (Gift of Billy Idol)

•1960 Chevrolet Corvette — Bruce Springsteen's black/white ragtop features silver chrome trim and black leather interior. The original AC Delco radio has been replaced with a tape deck. The ignition key on a ring with an aqua blue plastic tag says "60vette." The museum also has a 1957 white/red 'Vette convertible owned by 'The Boss'.

•1979 Johnny Cash Tour Bus — Cash used J.C. Unit One for the last two decades of his career. He started touring with his band in private cars. As bookings grew, he used several motor homes for touring, but they could not withstand the demanding schedule.

So in 1979 Cash bought the shell of a 40-foot Motor Coach Industries Cruiser MC9, the same frame used on many Greyhound buses. He sent the frame to Land Cruiser Customizer in Columbus, Ohio, for the structural build; Creative Mobile Interiors of Grove City, Ohio, completed the interior.

Johnny, his wife June, and their son, John Carter, all had separate compartments as did the driver. Including the frame and the customization, Cash spent an estimated $553,000-plus (in 1980 dollars) on the coach.

Cash sold the bus in July 2003, just two months after June died and only two months before his death. Eldon Wright, gospel singer and guiding light of the American Heritage Music Foundation, bought the bus. "Johnny couldn't stand to have the bus once June was gone," Wright said. "It was filled with so many memories of her."

"I have a home that takes me anywhere I need to go, that cradles me and comforts me, that lets me nod off in the mountains and wake up in the plains: my bus, of course," Cash recalled. "I love my bus. It really is my home, too. When I make it off another plane and through another airport, the sight of that big black MCI waiting by the curb sends waves of relief through me: Aah!: safety, familiarity, solitude. Peace at last. My cocoon." (Gift by David and Esther Wright)

•1969 Chevrolet Chevelle — According to Toby Scott, a sound engineer who worked with Bruce Springsteen on 18 albums (including Darkness On The Edge of Town, Born in the U.S.A. and Tunnel of Love and numerous live performances), this Chevelle "is a car [Bruce and I] had driven around New Jersey on many an occasion."

Barbara Orbison stands next to husband Roy's 1967 Chevrolet Corvette at the Rock & Roll Hall of Fame

Although not the inspiration for the song "Racing in the Street," [that song's] opening lines describe it exactly: "I got a '69 Chevy with a 396, fuelie, headers and a Hurst on the floor . . ." The song appeared on Springsteen's 1978 album Darkness on the Edge of Town. "In 'Racing in the Street' my street racers carried with them the years between the innocent car songs of the sixties and the realities of 1978 America," Springsteen recalled. "To make [the song] personal, I had to infuse the music with my own experience, my own hopes and fears."

Springsteen gifted the car to Scott in 1988, and he lent it to the museum.

•1989 Harley-Davidson Screamin' Eagle — Bruce Springsteen rode this motorcycle through the Southwest in 1989. He said he rode "several thousand miles," making the trip with three friends. The motorcycle features a black gas tank, wheel covers, chrome handlebars, two rear-view mirrors, red turn signals at the rear and a single red brake light. Also included is a large white front lamp with two orange turn signals and a leather console pouch with conchos. The California license plate is 11W958.

•Joan Jett Jaguar 1983 XJ-S H.E. — This was Joan Jett's first automobile. She purchased the car before she had a driver's license and drove it off the lot with only a learner's permit. She was recording at Kingdom Sound, where "I Love Rock 'n Roll" was recorded, her first day with the car. Between recording sessions, she took it for a joy ride with teenage actor Matt Dillon.

The Jaguar XJ-S H.E. (for High Efficiency) was one of the first fuel-injected engine Jaguars and had a lot more power than the previous carbureted models. Jaguar claimed that this was the fastest automatic transmission car in the world at that time, capable of 155 miles per hour. (Collection of the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame and Museum)

•1965 Honda CL77 — John Cougar Mellencamp has always been a motorcyclist. He acquired this bike when he was in high school. He said: "As long as I had a guitar, some food, a motorcycle and some beautiful arms to fall into, that's about all I ever wanted."

•1967 Chevrolet Corvette — Roy Orbison connected with cars and speed in his teens and later owned many high-performance vehicles and motorcycles; this was a passion that nearly equaled his love of music. He purchased this red iteration of "America's sports car" in the late '80s while living in Southern California. He drove it daily to the studio while recording the albums The Traveling Wilburys Vol. 1 and Mystery Girl. It was the last car he purchased before his death in 1988. (On loan from Barbara Orbison)

•1965 Porsche Cabriolet — After he moved to California, Tom Morello, Rage Against the Machine, used this as a tour van from 1991–1993. The classic has two front doors, a sliding passenger side door and two back doors. It's missing the removable rear seats, but where would you transport the guitars and drums otherwise?

•1977 Harley-Davidson XLCR Cafe Racer — Billy Joel's black 1000-cc motorcycle has a gold/red/navy Harley logo on the lower right near the exhaust pipe. It also features a smoked plastic windscreen, dual front mirrors and a black leather seat with silver studs.

Bruce Springsteen's Harley-Davidson

Joan Jett's 1983 Jaguar XJ-S H.E.

The license plate reads "Billy Joel" in black, and the plate is in silver frame with lighthouse and text: "Harley-Davidson Huntington, Long Island, NY." This bike was a reworking of Harley's Sportster motorcycle, a predecessor of current sports bikes.

•1988 Harley-Davidson Heritage Softail — Owned by Jon Bon Jovi, the motorcycle has California license plate number 14M0820 and features red/white front and rear fenders, brand logo plates on the left and right sides of the tank and chrome plates on front fender.

In addition is one large center headlight with two smaller headlights on either side, two black leather saddlebags with black leather fringe and padlocks on the right saddlebag. Strips of black leather are woven around the handlebars. In the center of the gas tank is a red rectangular piece of leather with three conchos. Conchos are also on the seat and saddlebags.

This motorcycle was one of the best-known Bon Jovi accessories in the late '80s and early '90s. In 1990, he rode the bike in the video for "Miracle" from Young Guns II.

•1968 Bullitt Mustang — "This is essentially an old Mustang set on top of a new Mustang, so it's all brand new on the inside," says Phoenix-area resident Alice Cooper, who in 2019 displayed his stage electric chair and guillotine at the Rock & Hall of Fame. The car celebrates the great 1968 Steve McQueen movie including one of the great cinematic car chases ever.

Cooper's garage evolves. Now he has a magnificent '63 Studebaker Avanti (they had Chevy 327- and 350-cid engines): "I've had several of these over the years," he says. He and wife Sheryl also own an Alfa Romeo Spider and a Dodge Hellcat. He just picked up his red-on-black 2020 Corvette from the dealer and is ecstatic, reminiscent of an Alice Cooper performance: "You should see this car; it's one of the most gorgeous things you've seen in your life!"

Cooper's car love started in the Motor City as a child. "My dad was a used-car salesman in Detroit, and pretty much all of my friends growing up had parents who were in the car business in some shape or form," he recalls. "You just get programmed to love them. My heart still runs on high octane, 400 horsepower and four on the floor."
